Guided Discovery Teaching Style

Constructivist teaching is based on the belief that learning occurs as learners are actively involved in a process of meaning and knowledge construction as opposed to passively receiving information. Learners are the makers of meaning and knowledge. Constructivist teaching methods - Wikipedia

Discovery learning is a technique of inquiry-based learning and is considered a constructivist based approach to education. It is also referred to as problem-based learning, experiential learning and 21st century learning. It is supported by the work of learning theorists and psychologists Jean Piaget, Jerome Bruner, and Seymour Papert. Jerome Bruner is often credited with originating... Discovery learning - Wikipedia

The structure of the Spectrum stems from the initial premise that teaching behavior is a chain of decision making. All teaching approaches consist of learning objectives, teacher and learner decisions, and learning outcomes. Spectrum of Teaching Styles 1 Definition. Daniel K. Schneider thinks that teaching style refers to the teaching strategies and methods employed plus use of certain kinds of rhetorics. But often, the literature only focuses on one of these dimensions (see the typologies below). "The term itself has no agreed definition but the more widely accepted definitions refer to it as "a set of teaching tactics" (Galton et al ... Teaching style - EduTech Wiki
